Midwest Heritage Language Summit:
Fostering the Languages of Your Community

The Midwest Heritage Language Network is pleased to announce a one-day summit on heritage languages in the community. The summit will consist of a keynote speaker and a series of panels to address issues related to heritage speakers and the community. Topics will include heritage speakers and the business community, health care, educational resources, and bilingualism and family language maintenance. There will be an afternoon poster presentation session. We encourage graduate students, community members, and faculty to submit poster proposals.
