Bees in Your Backyard

New Topics for 2018

Spotting, Collecting, and Identifying Ohio Bees

Workshops and free lecture/book signing featuring Olivia Carril, Biologist and Author

June 4, 5, 6 and 7, 2018

Multiple Locations Across Ohio

Learn from bee expert Olivia Carril at one of three day-long native bee workshops.

This year's "Bee Tour" will focus on practical ID in the field, using cameras or phones to capture images, and citizen science for everyone. We'll practice hands-on bee identification through microscopes and exploration in the field with Olivia and a team of biology experts. All sessions are 9AM to 4PM.

Cost: Handouts, lunch and refreshments included.
$65 per person, or $80 including Olivia's book.
To register: http://go.osu.edu/gobees
Workshop registration deadline: May 18th

Free lecture and book signing with Olivia Carril
Wednesday June 6th at 7PM
University of Mount Union in Alliance, free and open to all. Please register.
Olivia will discuss the natural history of bees, emphasizing the ones most commonly seen in Ohio and how to recognize them. She will also provide tips on encouraging these important pollinators in your backyard. RSVP by June 4th.

Olivia Carril has been studying bees for over 20 years, and is the co-author of The Bees in Your Backyard, A Field Guide to North America's Bees.
Questions? Contact Denise: ellsworth.2@osu.edu or Bonnie TWADDLB@mountunion.edu (330) 823-7487

Workshop Locations

Monday, June 4th
Stratford Ecological Center
Delaware

Tuesday, June 5th
The Dawes Arboretum
Newark

Wednesday, June 6th 7PM
Free Lecture & Book Signing
University of Mount Union
Hoover-Price Campus Center
420 West Simpson St.
Alliance

Thursday, June 7th
The Huston-Brumbaugh Nature Center of the University of Mount Union Minerva

University of Mount Union Huston-Brumbaugh Nature Center
The Ohio State University College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences
Stratford Ecological Center Educational Farm & Nature Preserve
The Dawes Arboretum