Lumley Research Award

The Lumley Engineering Research Awards are presented to a select group of outstanding researchers in the College of Engineering who have shown exceptional activity and success in pursuing new knowledge of a fundamental or applied nature. This award is in honor of John H. Lumley, a 1927 graduate of ceramic engineering. The John H. and Mildred C. Lumley Engineering Endowment Fund, established with $747,000 from the Lumley estate, is intended to promote and enhance research within the College of Engineering.
