

Kindergarten Corps

The Kindergarten Corps is a great program that works with kindergartners in Columbus City Schools. The tutoring program helps to improve early literacy skills, while also contributing to the student's overall reading development.

Alongside my program director, Dr. Kate Nelson, I worked with students through both semesters of my sophomore year to improve their literacy skills.

With the presence of COVID, I have had to improvise for moments when I was unable to meet with my student at the same time. For example, I found that recording sessions helped to make sure that the student would not miss out on a session.

From this program, I have not only been able to help the students that I have worked with, but I have also been able to learn from the process as well. We have had to overcome multiple obstacles due to the presence of a COVID-Induced virtual learning environment, and I learned how to adapt and overcome these obstacles as a result. In addition, I have been able to improvise my tutoring methods to fulfill the needs of every specific student that I work with.
