Agency Description

The purpose of ClassMates is to connect college aged students with underprivileged students in the Dayton and Columbus city schools area. The students would typically not be able to afford tutoring, so this free tutoring give them an amazing opportunity to learn.

Project Description

I was paired with a 9 year old 4th grader named Temperance who attends Dayton City Schools. Elementary school is a very formative time in school and it was very hard for her to go through 3rd grade during COVID. I helped her learn her times tables, as well as working on reading comprehension.

Major Takeaways

- Service can still be effective through online mediums
- Education is such an important tool to empower students and give them confidence in school
- Having access to quality education is important for all students

Due to the nature of my project, I was not able to take pictures at my service site
